Q2009 | Formal vs Informal Language | MEDIUM

Select the sentence most appropriate for an academic essay.

- A. The thing about climate change is that it's really bad.
- B. Climate change poses significant threats to global ecosystems and human societies.
- C. Climate change is pretty much the worst thing ever.
- D. I think that climate change might be kind of a problem.

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Academic writing requires precise, formal language without vague qualifiers, colloquialisms, or informal intensifiers. Option B uses specific, professional vocabulary ("poses significant threats," "global ecosystems," "human societies"). Option A uses vague language ("the thing about"). Option C uses informal exaggeration ("pretty much the worst th

Q2010 | Parallel Structure | MEDIUM

Which sentence has correct parallel structure?

- A. The job requires excellent communication, the ability to solve problems, and teamwork skills.
- B. The job requires excellent communication, problem-solving ability, and teamwork skills.
- C. The job requires excellent communication, problem-solving, and working well with teams.
- D. The job requires to communicate well, solving problems, and teamwork.

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: Parallel structure requires items in a list to share the same grammatical form. Option B uses three parallel noun phrases: "excellent communication" (adjective + noun), "problem-solving ability" (compound adjective + noun), and "teamwork skills" (compound noun + noun). Option A mixes a noun phrase with a clause ("the ability to solve problems"). Op

Q2011 | Apostrophe Usage | MEDIUM

Choose the sentence with correct apostrophe usage.

- A. The children's toys were scattered across the floor.
- B. The childrens' toys were scattered across the floor.
- C. The childrens toys were scattered across the floor.
- D. The child's toys were scattered across the floor.

Correct Answer: A

Explanation: For irregular plural nouns that don't end in "s" (like "children"), the possessive is formed by adding an apostrophe + s (children's). Option A correctly uses "children's" for plural possession. Option B incorrectly adds the apostrophe after the s, which is only for regular plurals ending in s. Option C has no apostrophe at all. Option D uses the s

Q2012 | Semicolon and Colon Usage | EASY

Choose the sentence that uses a semicolon correctly.

- A. I love coffee; but I also enjoy tea.
- B. I love coffee; I also enjoy tea.
- C. I love coffee; however I also enjoy tea.
- D. ; I love coffee and tea.

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: A semicolon can join two closely related independent clauses without a coordinating conjunction. Option B correctly joins two complete independent clauses with a semicolon. Option A incorrectly uses a semicolon before "but" -- when using a coordinating conjunction, a comma should be used instead. Option C is missing a comma after the conjunctive adv

Q2013 | Transition Words | EASY

Choose the best transition word.

The recipe calls for two cups of flour; _____, you can substitute oat flour for a gluten-free option.

- A. however
- B. therefore
- C. similarly
- D. instead

Correct Answer: A

Explanation: The sentence introduces an alternative to the original ingredient, showing a contrast or substitution. "However" signals a contrast or alternative suggestion. Option A correctly uses "however" to introduce the substitution option. "Therefore" (B) shows cause and effect. "Similarly" (C) shows comparison, but substituting a different ingredient is no

Q2014 | Sentence Structure | EASY

Identify the simple sentence.

- A. After the movie ended, we went out for dinner.
- B. We went out for dinner.
- C. We went out for dinner, and then we saw a play.
- D. We, who were very hungry, went out for dinner.

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: A simple sentence has one independent clause with no dependent clauses. Option B contains a single independent clause: subject "we" and verb "went." Option A has a dependent clause ("After the movie ended"). Option C has two independent clauses joined by "and." Option D has a relative clause ("who were very hungry").

Q2015 | Parts of Speech | MEDIUM

In which sentence does "light" function as an adjective?

- A. She turned on the light.
- B. The light from the window was bright.
- C. She wore a light jacket because the weather was warm.
- D. Light the candles on the table.

Correct Answer: C

Explanation: An adjective modifies a noun or pronoun. In option C, "light" modifies the noun "jacket" by describing its weight (not heavy). Option A uses "light" as a noun (object of "turned on"). Option B uses "light" as a noun (subject of the sentence). Option D uses "light" as a verb (imperative command).

Q2016 | Word Meaning in Context | EASY

Read the sentence and determine the meaning of "reluctant."

The student was reluctant to present in front of the class, but eventually agreed.

- A. Eager and excited
- B. Unwilling or hesitant
- C. Confident and prepared
- D. Angry and frustrated

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: The context clue "but eventually agreed" suggests the student initially did not want to present. "Reluctant" means unwilling or hesitant to do something. Option B correctly identifies this meaning. Option A (eager) is the opposite. Option C (confident) contradicts the hesitation implied. Option D (angry) is not supported by the context -- the studen

Q2017 | Sentence Revision | HARD

Choose the best revision of this wordy sentence:

"At this point in time, it is important to note that the patient is experiencing symptoms that are of a severe nature."

- A. Currently, the patient is experiencing severe symptoms.
- B. The patient has severe symptoms now.
- C. It should be noted that the patient has symptoms that are severe.
- D. At this point, the severe symptoms are being experienced by the patient.

Correct Answer: A

Explanation: Concise writing eliminates unnecessary words and phrases. The original has multiple wordy constructions: "at this point in time" (one word: "currently"), "it is important to note that" (unnecessary filler), and "symptoms that are of a severe nature" ("severe symptoms"). Option A reduces 23 words to 6 while preserving all meaning. Option B is also c

Q2018 | Supporting Evidence | HARD

Which evidence best supports the claim that sleep deprivation affects academic performance?

- A. Many students stay up late studying.
- B. A longitudinal study published in Sleep journal tracking 1,200 college students over four semesters found that those averaging fewer than six hours of sleep had GPAs 0.4 points lower than those sleeping eight or more hours.
- C. Sleep is important for health.
- D. Some professors have noticed tired students in class.

Correct Answer: B

Explanation: The strongest evidence is specific, quantified, from a credible source, and directly links the variables in the claim. Option B provides all of these: specific data (0.4 GPA difference), a credible source (Sleep journal), study details (1,200 students, four semesters), and directly connects sleep duration to academic performance (GPA). Options A, C
